ALUMNI BANQUET.

DANCE TONIGHT

Jelly Time In Store At the High School Building This Evening.

HANDSOME FOB.

Mr. Thomas A. Davis has just received one of the most beautiful Masonic charms. It is made of gold, in five leaves, as it were, which fold one against the other, and when folded, lock with a clasp. The first leaf is the emblem of the Blue Lodge, the next is the Chapter emblem, then the Commandery, the fourth is the Shrine and the last is the Thirty-second Degree Scottish Rite. At the point where the Eagles join it is studded with a beautiful diamond.

The charm is the only one of its kind in existence, being designed after his own idea by Mr. Davis himself. In it he has shown his artistic temperament and afforded the jeweler who made it, an opportunity to demonstrate his workmanship.

MRS. WILLIAM GREENLEE.

The members of the Alumni Association of the Maysville High School will hold their annual banquet and dance this evening in the Maysville High School building. The banquet will take place at 7:30 o'clock, and the arrangements include addresses by some of the prominent citizens. It is promised that this is to be the best entertainment ever given by the association since its organization. The banquet will be served by the ladies of the First Baptist church, whose reputation as servers of delicious spreads is already firmly established.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the dance will begin. The music for this occasion will be the Maysville Saxophone Trio, which has given entire satisfaction at a number of social functions, and is especially good at furnishing dance music.

NEW GARAGE

Mr. J. R. Stevens Will Open Up-To-Date Garage In Fitzgerald Building.

Maysville will, in a few days, have a new business house when Mr. J. R. Stevens, of Cincinnati, opens a garage in the building recently occupied by the Fitzgerald Saddlery Company.

He will handle the famous Oakland make of autos and will run a high-class repair department. Mr. Stevens is a practical man, having spent years in the auto business and having several patents on various machines.

He will move his family here in a few days and will take up his residence in the Hechinger property on West Front street. Mr. Stevens will employ several high-class mechanics and promises the people of this city that the best there is in the garage business.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Walter Moore, of Cincinnati; two sisters, Mrs. Clarence Dresel and Mrs. Emma Limerle, and two brothers, James and Will Evans, of this city.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Say, farmer folks, it's worth your while to turn the paper sidewise to see the picture of the "New" Tiger Tobacco Setter. It's a wonder. Chuck full of new improvements, and the best tobacco transplanter on the market today. Drop in and let's talk it over.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Maysville High School Graduates Receive Diplomas and Render Excellent Program.

The commencement exercises of the Maysville High School were held on Thursday evening in the High School Auditorium, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

It is usually the custom that commencement exercises shall be given over to orations and addresses by some dignitaries, who generally consume more than their allotted time on the program, but this year the High School authorities arranged a program almost entirely executed by the graduates themselves, which was a welcome change, and that they made no mistake is well illustrated by the excellent manner in which the participants acquitted themselves.

Following is the program as rendered:

"Sweet Briar Overtures"—Orchestra InvocationRev. Will Campbell SalutatoryMary Adelaide Cummings "Morn-Rise"Alphonse Czbulka Girls' Glee Club.

"Historical Maysville"—Naomi Elizabeth Mathews.

"Maysville's Hall of Fame"—Ruth Cummings Thomas.

"Sweet and Low"Quartet Lucie Smith, Ria Ross, Carroll Matthews and Ruth Willett.

"Commission Form of Government"—John Watson Mathews.

"Mighty Lak' a Rose"Orchestra

"The New Maysville"—Hermann L. Calvert.

"Barcarolle" (Arr. by W. Rhys-Herbert)Offenback Girls' Glee Club.

ValedictoryMyron Daniel Merz

Presentation of Diplomas—S. P. Browning, President Board of Education.

"Rambler March"Orchestra Presentation of Scholarships—Prof. Mance.

Every number on the program is worthy of special mention, but space forbids us going into a lengthy article on the merits of each subject discussed. However, we have this much to say, that there were several new thoughts and ideas advanced by this graduating class of 1915 to the audience, which made them look up and notice.

The remarks of President S. P. Browning as to the purposes of the High School were timely and appropriate and showed the citizens of Maysville where they stood in matters educational. The present Board of Education is to be congratulated upon the high state of efficiency to which they have brought the public schools of Maysville. Honor to them.

That High School Orchestra was a real surprise to those present, the music being charming and delightful. Mr. C. E. Geisel, as director, showed what could be done in a few weeks toward producing an orchestra that is the equal of any high school in the state. Following compose the orchestra:

C. E. Geisel, director; Misses Stella Archdeacon, Helyn Young, Ria Ross; Messrs. John H. Cain, U. G. Bailey, J. H. Richardson, H. J. Ellis, Gordon Smoot, Horald Caplinger, Ellsworth Cabilish, John Everett, Jr., Howell Richardson and William Geisel.

The program was well arranged and just long enough not to be tiresome. This feature was a new idea and was hailed with approval.

The 1915 Class consisted of twenty-three members, and is the largest class in the history of the schools to be graduated at one time. Here are the names of those who got their diplomas, with the faculty added:

Hazel Aldrich, Amye Baugh, Elizabeth Boughton, Hermann Calvert, Lola Chamberlain, Earl Cobb, Myron Merz, first honor pupil; Adelade Cummings, second honor pupil; Ritchie Stevenson, Edith Hoeftlich, George Hunt, Francis Hopper, Gordon Marsh, John Mathews, Jo Edwin Matthews, Naomi Mathews, Ruth Thomas, Julia Muse, Esther Ort, Elizabeth Peed, Franklin Slye, Martha Sharp, Clara Stone.

Superintendent of Schools—W. J. Caplinger.

Principal of High School—G. C. Mance.

Assistants—Nell Sutherland, Inez Luten, Edith Dickson, C. S. Dale, Hilda Threlkeld, Margaret Habermann, J. A. Bell.

Music Instructor—Dorothy Doud Siddall.

NOTES—BY STUDENT.

Ed Geisel is sure there with his orchestra. We have paid double to hear worse.

"Farmer" Mathews is right there when it comes to politics. He's a chip off the old block." His talk on Commission Form of Government was clear and concise.

Miss Adelade Cummings said her little piece with credit to herself and to the class.

The Girls' Glee Club were on the job and sang their way into the hearts of everybody there.

THE FIVE PER CENT DISCOUNT CLAUSE.

We have seen that many of the provisions of the Underwood tariff law were so crudely constructed that they were susceptible of several interpretations, rendering them ineffective until their true meaning had been judicially determined.

That paragraph which it is thought was intended to give a 5 per cent discount in customs duties on merchandise imported in American vessels has recently come into prominence through an opinion rendered by the Court of Customs Appeals, which virtually declares the effect of the provision to be a wholesale discrimination in favor of the ships of certain foreign countries.

During the debate in Congress upon that passage of the law, the Republicans gave repeated warnings that, apart from its policy, the phraseology of this section was meaningless and should be corrected to accomplish its purpose, but the Democrats with but a vague idea of aiding American shipping, adopted a like vague method of extending such aid, and with their usual carelessness in constructing legislation, enacted this section in such terms that it was impossible of interpretation and had to be submitted to judicial determination.

This section, after providing the discount in favor of American vessels, some fifty in number, went on to say that "nothing herein shall be construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of our treaties with foreign nations," and from the opinion of the court it appears that there are some 5,500 treaty nation vessels which must now receive the same bounty as the fifty American ships.

In its decision the court referred to statistics showing that the discount provision reduces duties 5 per cent upon considerably more than one-half of all our dutiable goods, and added: "The wisdom or expediency of the policy is a matter into which we may not inquire nor have we the right to suspend the operation of the statute because we may think its purpose is not adequately accomplished."

After all their labored adjustment of tariff rates, the Democrats in this single paragraph impaired the effect of preceding schedules and conferred upon foreign ships a valuable privilege intended only for our own vessels.

And now in harmony with this decision there must be a refund of customs duties collected on merchandise imported in vessels subject to this provision amounting to from twelve to fifteen million dollars, and these millions must come from a treasury already facing a huge deficit resulting from the gross mismanagement of the present administration.

In the Wrong Shop.

Green did not have a happy little home. At times there were sundry sounds like great excitement, and eagerly the neighbors listened. Finally Green stacked up against a lawyer and related his tale of woe.

"You say," thoughtfully remarked the lawyer, when Green eased up a bit, "that you want a divorce because your wife treats you brutally?"

"Yes, sir," was the quick rejoinder of the client. "She treats me like a dog and makes me work like a horse."

"In that case," returned the lawyer, "you are in the wrong shop. You should have gone to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals."—Exchange.

LOVES OF GREAT AMERICANS.

SUGAR MAKING

An Ancient As Well As Modern Industry—Over $500,000,000 Spent Annually in the United States For Products.

The world has had a "sweet tooth" for many ages. People have been eating sugar for time immemorial it would seem, and growing sugar cane is an industry so old that it antedates the Christian era by many centuries. At least that is what we gather from an article by Edward Albes, in the May number of the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan-American Union, Washington, D. C., which gives a comprehensive account of the cane sugar industry in the Americas, and incidentally embodies an interesting resume of what is actually known of the history of the industry throughout the world from the very dawn of civilization to the present.

Bayard Taylor's Tragic Romance. A 19-year-old boy—son of a farmer's widow—tramped Park Row in 1844 looking in vain for work in the newspaper offices. Thirty-four years later his body was to lie in state in New York City Hall, just across from Park Row, and the world of letters was to mourn him.

The boy was Bayard Taylor. At 15 he had been a self-taught linguist; at 16 a schoolmaster; at 17 a printer, and at 18 a full-fledged poet and newspaper writer. And from early childhood he had been in love.

The girl he loved was Mary Agnew, a neighbor's daughter. He and Mary had been lovers since they were mere babies. They had grown up with the unshaken intention to marry as soon as Taylor could support a wife.

"She was an intelligent and beautiful girl," says Taylor's biographer, "and to him she seemed more angel than human, with her dark eyes and soft brown hair. She was his inspiration."

But Mary's parents did not like the idea of her marrying a lad who had no money, no profession, no prospects. In fact, they positively forbade any engagement between the two young people.

And, to earn money to marry on, Taylor came to New York to look for work. After much trouble he secured orders for European travel letters from several newspapers (at $50 for an entire series), and he set out for Germany. It was his chance to make good. And he took that chance, even though it meant a long absence from his sweetheart.

Mary's parents would not let her correspond with him while he was away. So it was only through his mother that he heard anything from her. It was his mother, too, who managed to soften the hearts of the Agnews toward her son's suit. Taylor's travel letters scored a great success. When he came back to America, at 22, his feet were already on the rungs of the success ladder. And, with the consent of her parents, Mary became engaged to him.

But, though his name was beginning to be known, he was still poor and in debt. And three years of grinding work passed before he was in a position to marry. At last a date in early May, 1850, was set for the wedding day.

Travel and absence and experience had not weakened Taylor's love for his childhood sweetheart. One of his letters to her, written at about this time, begins:

"One word from you is dearer to me than the cold praise of all the critics in the land!"

Just before the day fixed for the wedding Mary Agnew fell ill. The ceremony was postponed until she should be in better health. But she grew steadily worse.

Early in October of that same year they were married. And in December Mary died.

For months Taylor was a mental and physical wreck. The loss of the girl he had loved from babyhood broke his heart and left him unfit to take up the burden of life again.

"Another such winter will kill me, I am certain," he wrote to a friend. "I can not work with any spirit. I shall go on a journey somewhere—no matter where."

He went on the journey, then on several others. And, during one of them, in 1857, he married again.

ITALY MAY DECLARE WAR ON TURKEY.

Rome, June 17.—Political circles are beginning to consider the eventuality of declaring war against Turkey, in order to end a most embarrassing situation.

The Italian ambassador to Constantinople is prevented from telegraphing to Rome and numerous incidents of like character are adding to the complexity of the situation.

It is the idea of the Nazionali, published in the form of a strong demand that Italy should declare war upon Turkey and participate in the campaign at the Dardanelles.

The United States is the greatest sugar consuming country of the world. In 1913 its total consumption amounted to 3,743,139 tons—including cane, beet and maple. This is a per capita consumption of 85.4 pounds per annum. Much of this is consumed in the form of candy, over $500,000,000 being spent for that sweet commodity in the United States every year. New York is the largest candy-consuming center of the world, and to supply that city alone it would take five trains of fifty cars, each loaded to the limit with candy, every week in the year if it had to be shipped in on a railroad.

THE ISLAND OF TENEDOS.

Washington, D. C.—Among the advanced camps of foremost importance is the allied French and English base on the small island of Tenedos, which lies just before the Aegean mouth of the Dardanelles. The following description of this point, whence the great military and naval attempt upon the formidable fortified strait is being made, is given in today's war primer of the National Geographic Society:

"The island of Tenedos commands the approach to the Dardanelles, lying but eight miles south-southwest from the mouth of the strait and about five miles from the coast of Asia Minor. Removed from the field of the guns of the Dardanelles forts within short steaming distance of the waterway under attack and within comfortable reach of the mainland, readily supplied with provisions from the neighboring islands and mainland ports of Greece, surrounded by deep water and having an ideal anchorage for battleships, Tenedos admirably fulfills the requirements of an advanced base. For months now this little-island has been abuzz with activities incident upon one of the most stupendous undertakings of the world.

"As to the manufactured product of the cane, the first kind of sugar of which mention is made was a concentrated cane juice called 'gur' in India ('gud' in Sanskrit), and this seems to have been known as a food from prehistoric times. That its manufacture was a well established industry in India in the seventh century is attested by the old Chinese encyclopedia, the Pen-tsao-kang-mu, which states that the Emperor T'ai-tsung, who reigned from 627 to 650 A. D., sent some of his people to Behar to learn the art of sugar making. The manufacture of sugar even in the early centuries of the Christian era was not restricted to the mere evaporation of the juice of the cane to dryness, for the Arabs and Egyptians had soon learned how to purify raw sugar by recrystallization, and incidentally how to make a great variety of sweetmeats, or candy, out of the product."

The author tells of the introduction of the cane into Sicily by the Arabs in 703, whence it was taken to Africa, to Spain and all along the coast of the Mediterranean sea, as well as to the islands and borders of the Indian ocean. The Crusaders found extensive sugar cane plantations in Tripoli, Mesopotamia, Syria, Anti-oceas and Cyprus, and by the fourteenth century the cane was being cultivated in every part of the known world where soil and climate were propitious.

It came to South America by being introduced into Brazil by the Portuguese, who brought it from Madera, and thence it spread to nearly all the other countries of that continent. Columbus is said to have brought it to the island of Santo Domingo, whence it spread to Mexico and Cuba. It was introduced into the other islands of the West Indies as soon as they came under European domination. The first sugar cane came to Louisiana by being sent to the Jesuits from Santo Domingo, in 1751, some English authorities giving the date as 1737.

Although practically all of the countries of the Pan-American Union cultivate the cane, Cuba is the greatest producer of cane sugar, not only in the western hemisphere, but in the world. The total production of the western hemisphere for the 1913-14 season amounted to 4,919,814 tons, of which Cuba produced 2,597,732 tons, or nearly 52 per cent. The total cane sugar production of the world was 9,773,348 tons, and deducting the 2,262,600 produced in India and locally consumed, it is seen that Cuba produces nearly 35 per cent of the cane sugar that is available in the markets of the world.

HAIL! HAIL! HAIL!
 We will write your tobacco hail insurance in the same old reliable company we have been placing you in for the past two years, the H. W. Clay, of Lexington, who have adjusted every loss we have ever had to the entire satisfaction of the insured. So why take a chance in trying out a new company when you know this one has never had a controversy over paying a loss? Is this not recommendation enough? Remember the cost for the season will be no more than it will cost you to insure, say ten days prior to the time to house the tobacco. When in town drop in and let us fix you up a policy.

The Ledger today announces the name of Hon. W. H. Rees, as a candidate for County Attorney for Mason county, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the primary election, to be held August 7, 1915.

Mr. Rees is a Mason county young man, having been born here and needs no introduction to the people of Maysville and Mason county at our hands. He is a graduate of the Maysville High School, K. W. College, at Winchester, Ky., and Vanderbilt University, of Nashville, Tenn., and graduated in law with honors from the Law School of the University of Virginia.

Several years ago he was elected City Attorney by Council, to succeed Hon. James M. Collins, which office he filled with credit and served three years, being appointed County Attorney July 1, 1914, to succeed Hon. T. D. Slattery, resigned. He has made a good County Attorney and now seeks to be regularly elected to the office for the unexpired term.

Mr. Rees is also a member of the law firm of Slattery & Rees.

While Mr. Rees is of different political faith from us, yet if a Democrat is to be elected, we want Rees for the job.

Thursday about noon, a woman named Flife, who resides in the West End of this city, went into the Chenoweth Drug Company's store and asked for about a dollar's worth of strychnine. The pharmacist thought this a rather large purchase of this drug and upon questioning the woman, learned that she was despondent over domestic troubles.

When refused strychnine, she asked for carbolic acid, which was also refused her, as it was plain that she was going to try to commit suicide. After the second refusal the woman went out of the store and as far as known has not yet committed any rash act.

OVERLAND $750

This is the Largest 4-Cylinder Overland That Will Be Produced This Year

ROADSTER $725

THE NEWEST OVERLAND—$325 LESS THAN LAST YEAR

The 1916 Overland is essentially the same as the 1915 Overland—the famous Model 80 that sold for $1,075.

But the price is $325 less.

The stream-line body is the same as the $1,075 Model of last season.

It has the same magnificent finish, that deep, rich tone of dark Brewster green with fine hairline striping of clear ivory-white.

It has the same powerful, economical 35 horse-power, four-cylinder motor, but weighs less.

It has high-tension magneto ignition.

It has the same underslung rear springs. It has the convenient arrangement of electric control buttons on the steering column.

It has the same easy-working clutch which any woman can operate; the same "easy to handle" shifting levers; the same "easy to steer with" wheel; the same positive brakes.

It has 33-inch X 4-inch tires, which is unusual on a car at this price.

In detail, finish, mechanical fitness, comforts and conveniences, this newest Overland gives you all there was in the $1,075 Overland and even more power.

And it costs you but $750—$325 less than last season's large 35 horse-power Overland.

Deliveries are being made now all over the country.

Every Overland dealer already has a waiting list.</p
